Leaders Are Not in Agreement on the Rail Strike Ballot

CHICAGO, Oct. 6—With the counting of strike ballots of four big railroad unions well under way, evidence developed that a difference of opinion exists among the union leaders.

While officials of some of the unions whose 860,000 men are voting on a strike against the 12 per cent wage cut put in effect July 1 by order of the United States Railroad Labor Board have minimized the possibility of a general walk-out, the president of one of the organizations declared his men were not bullish and would strike if a majority favored the action.

An official of the Switchmen's Union of North America also announced that his men were voting on other questions than the wage cut, taking issue with a statement by Warren S. Stone head of the engineers, who declared at Cleveland last week that wages was the only subject at issue. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Order of Railway Conductors, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Switchmen's Union are all voting on a joint ballot.

"It is not a question of wages alone," the switchmen's official said, "but an effort is being made to take away working conditions and agreement which have been in effect for years."

This view of the joint ballot is the same as that held by W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who refused to permit his men to vote with the other unions on the ground that the wage and working conditions question had never been decided by the labor board, and that under the transportation act the unions could not legally call a strike on this question.

Lee withdrew from the joint meeting of all the union leaders here July 5 and prepared a separate ballot for his men after telling the heads of the other organizations that they were misleading their men. The trainmen voted on Lee's separate ballot, and 87 per cent of the 180,000 votes cast were in favor of a strike.

P. R. R. ADDS TO FORCE

Shopmen Recalled for Work on Repairs to Rolling Stock.

Steam Shovel Moved to Road Near Hillcrest

The first steam shovel to be used in heading off the mine fire in the Hillcrest district was put in operation this morning.

The committee in charge of the work is shaping up plans for the subscription drive to be made next week. Putting out the fire, which menaces Hillcrest properties and eventually may cause loss of life and damage in the city proper is going to cost money. Part of the expense will be offset by the sale of coal, estimated at 5,000 tons, which will be removed from under the state road near which the fire is now burning, but this will not be sufficient.

Robert Norris has accepted the chairmanship of the drive committee and subscriptions will be taken from persons interested in the welfare of the city.

HULLTOWN PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDING DAMAGED BY FIRE

Loss of Several Hundred Dollars Declared Due to Overheated Pipe.

BUCKET BRIGADE HELPS

Flames Are Subdued After Portion of Structure Has Been Destroyed; Blaze Is Discovered By Boy Pupil; No School Sessions Are Held Today.

The public school building at Hulltown, Lower Tyrone township, a short distance from Dawson, was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars by fire which was discovered at 3:30 o'clock last evening and which is said to have started from an overheated pipe from the heater in the lower room of the two-story building. A bucket brigade made up of persons living near the school extinguished the flames after an hour's battle.

The building, which contains two rooms, has a heater in each. It is claimed the smoke pipe was not properly insulated.

The fire was discovered by a pupil, William Cable. A call for aid was sent to Dawson, but only two firemen, L. L. Parkhill and James Spiral, responded. It was declared, and efforts from the community was quickly recruited. It was composed of Ray Whipkey, Charles Ansell, Cyrus Whipkey, Earl Ansell, Scott Whipkey, William Ansell, Alfred Lint and Earl Newell. The men carried water from nearby houses and had the fire under control at 6:15 o'clock.

There was no school today and it is probable a meeting of the school board will be held to determine what shall be done. It was said the loss to the building alone would be around $400. The teachers are Delia Cotton, principal, and Miss Mattie Blair.

90TH BAPTIST MEETING TO BE AT FAIRCHANCE

Flatwoods Pastor Will Preach Introductory Sermon, Local the Doctrinal.

TIME IS NOT SELECTED

Reports Submitted at Closing Session of 89th Convention in First Church, Connellsville, Shows Four to Have Been Association's Best Year.

The 90th annual session of the Monongahela Baptist association will be held at Fairchance, the place being chosen yesterday at the 89th annual convention, held in the First church. Rev. A. A. Blake, the new pastor of the Baptist church at Fairwood, will preach the introductory sermon and Rev. C. H. Stevens, pastor of the Connellsville church, was chosen to deliver the doctrinal sermon.

The time for holding the convention will not be set until the date of the 1922 annual convention of the Pittsburg Baptist association is named. While the two conventions will not be held on the same dates they will be held at a time which will make it convenient for the speakers attending the Pittsburg convention to appear on the program here.

Reports submitted yesterday showed the year of 1921 to be the greatest in the financial history of the association. The Connellsville church is one of a few of over 700 Baptist churches to give as much money for other purposes as it is keeping for the church's own use. It is working on the 50-50 basis.

The closing session of the convention last night was largely attended. The large auditorium was filled. Rev. R. H. Austin, the retiring moderator, had charge of the praise service which opened the meeting. Special music was rendered by the church choir with C. T. Austin as director. An address on "The Gospel in Foreign Lands" by Rev. F. C. Wilcox, a missionary in China, was declared to have been one of the most scholarly talks ever given before a Connellsville audience. A stereopticon lecture, "Blazing Gospel Trails for the Money" by Rev. W. G. Russell, was an interesting feature of the meeting.

REVISION OF NEW TAX BILL IN PROSPECT

WASHINGTON, Oct 6.—Radical revision of the tax bill by agreement among Senate Republicans was in prospect today as a result of conference yesterday between the various factions.

With debate continuing on the measure negotiations were proceeding among Republicans, with a view to amendment of the bill as reported by the Senate Finance committee so as to provide for the following:

Repeal next January 1 of all transportation taxes, except possibly on Pullman accommodations.

Increase of income surtax rate on incomes over $66,000 from the committee maximum rate of 32 per cent to a maximum of around 50 per cent.

Repeal of all or a majority of the luxury and so-called "nuisance" taxes, mainly on soft drinks.

Increase of the corporation tax rate 15 per cent as recommended by the committee.

Continuation of the corporation capital stock tax.

These principal points were said to represent the "consensus of opinion" of the group of 14 Republicans who conferred last night at the home of Senator Kenner with Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. Most were Senators from western agricultural states and included many members of the so-called "progressive group."

TONY RENDINE FIRST ON FUND FOR HALLOWE'EN

Offers $5 to Any Organization That Will Take Lead in Celebration.

TIME IS GROWING SHORT

Firemen Not Declining to Head Movement Because of Hard Work But Because of Difficulty in Securing Money to Pay Expense of Prizes.

Antonio Rendine said today he was willing to give $5 toward a Hallowe'en celebration and would make the donation to any organization taking hold of the movement. The time is drawing near when it will be absolutely necessary to prepare for the big time if it is going to be a success and no one has yet taken the lead.

The chief reason of the West Side firemen for not holding the celebration this year is because of the difficulty encountered in raising the necessary funds.

"The boys don't mind the work connected with the celebration," Chief W. E. DeHoff said "but they hate to be turned down so often when asking money to make the night a success."

The firemen have expressed their willingness to assist any organization which takes hold of the movement.

REPEAT TODAY HUGGINS' SLOGAN FOR SECOND GAME

Weather More Favorable, Waiting Crowd Smaller Than for Initial Baseball Battle Yesterday.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—With one victory gained by the methods their rivals were expected to use the New York Americans go back to the fray with the city's National league champions today fully confident they can again turn the tide their way. The Giants, however, did not appear at all discouraged by their initial defeat and were prepared to enter Brush stadium today with more determination to even up the world series by winning the second game.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—"We are on our way and we won't be stopped," Manager Huggins of the Yankees.

"We are going to win. I feel confident of that."—Manager McGraw of the Giants.

These predictions of the rival managers before the second game of the world series were backed up by the players.

POLO GROUNDS, Oct. 6.—The Giants primed their southpaw slinger, Rube Artie Nehf, for today's world series intra-city fray with the Yankees. The champions of the National league also held in reserve the big right-hander, Fred Toney, to shell the American leaguers who topped the Giants yesterday in the first contest for the high honor in baseball.

"Can't say whether it will be Hoyt or Shawkey," said Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees as they came on the field for batting practice. Huggins thought he might warm up both. Some of the Yankees believed the youthful Hoyt would be in there showing the Giants his sharp hooks and fast drops.

An Indian summer day followed a chilly night. The sun blazed like a burnished disk in a clear sky and the fans in the bleachers were grateful for the light westerly breeze. The crowd came late. The man who stayed up all night and had only himself for company would have found thousands of vacant seats at noon. The unreserved upper stands also filled slowly. There were prospects of a 30,000 attendance. The band came early and piped some tunes for the edification of the groundskeeper and bleacherites.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—A special wire from the Polo Grounds is carrying details of the big series to Christy Mathewson at his Saranac Lake home. Unable to attend the contest the former Giant pitching star who often twirled his team to three shut out victories in a world series listened attentively as Carl Mays turned back the Giants inning after inning. Before the contest yesterday Manager McGraw called Mathewson on the phone to say he was never more confident of victory.

"I hope to be well enough to see the next world series," Matty said, "and I feel confident you will bring home the bacon."

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The attendance at the opening game yesterday for the world championship between the Giants and the Yankees was 36,203; total receipts, $103,965 (new record); players' share, $53,022.15; clubs' share, $35,348 10; commission's share, $15,594 75.

The former record receipts, $101,768 were in the sixth game of the Cincinnati-Chicago series in 1919.

"Subscribe Once But Enough for the Entire Year," Slogan Adopted By Appeal Organization Which Will Attempt to Raise Fund of $10,000.

"Subscribe once but enough for the entire year" will be the slogan of the workers enlisted in the Salvation Army Third Home Service appeal for Connellsville which will be launched next Sunday and will continue until the goal of $10,000 has been reached.

Never before in the history of the local Salvation Army corps has the Salvation Army international slogan, "A Man May Be Down But He's Never Out," been more strikingly illustrated in the Connellsville district. The calls for aid have increased many fold during the past few months and the recent cold spell brought many new appeals. True, the vast majority of these appeals are for temporary aid and it is to help these people help themselves that the bulk of the local fund asked for will be used.

Encouraging reports have been received from the entire Connellsville corps area which takes in this end of Fayette county and the Scottdale section of Westmoreland county.

Appeal chairman Charles B. Franks, for the Connellsville proper district, is well pleased with the reports received from the team captains, there being but one or two isolated cases wherein a man has been asked to serve upon a team that a refusal has been met with.

At Scottdale Joseph M. Zimmers and Thomas Hill are perfecting an organization to look after the Scottdale end.

In Dawson, Harry Cochran, Robert D. Henry, Dr. H. J. Bell and others have promised their fullest cooperation, while at Dunbar Alex Duncan, R. J. McGee, E. Charles Way, Harry Cook, G. W. Greenwood and others will handle the appeal. At Mount Braddock Carl Foutz and David Ainsley will head up the movement.

Following are the members of the advisory board, executive committees, team captains and team workers who have been enlisted in the appeal and who are expected to attend the dinner tonight. Others enlisted in the appeal are also invited to attend and volunteer their services:

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produce kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Advertisement.

Catholic Lecturer Recites History of The New Testament

In the lecture last night at Sacred Heart church, Dawson, by Father Carl H. Demorest, gave the history of the writing and collecting of the book of the New Testament. "The various books," he said, "were written between the year 50 and 100. They were written by the various congregations of Christians scattered over the then known world. No one of the books was intended to be a complete exposition of Christ's teaching, nor did they all conspire to make the collective books a complete exposition of life, teaching. These books were not brought together in authentic collection until the year 374, under the direction of Pope Damasus. This collection of books of the New Testament, as we have it now, was also approved by synod in Africa, in 393, and again by Pope Innocent I, in 405.

"Those who see no difficulty in reading Sacred Scripture must either be blamed for presumption or pitied for their simplicity. This Sacred Book was written in languages foreign to our own, and in languages that are now dead. They were written for people far removed from us in every way, differing from us in mental habits and outlooks, as in customs. The Apostles wrote to people who knew things which we must now supply. The writer could suppose the knowledge of certain facts and events, which we must supply to understand what was written. And just as scholars differ in the opinion as to the meaning of passages in certain classic works of literature, so will they differ in the interpretation of the Word of God."

VELVET SURE TO BE POPULAR

Soft Material Promises to Be Chief Favorite This Season—Tailored Blouse in Favor.

It is predicted that velvet will be the most popular of all materials for fall. The chances are that the designs will be simple in the extreme, allowing the beauty of the material and the line of the gown to be the chief attractions. Somehow this material is receiving more attention in advance fashions than is its sister fabric, duvetyn. But which will win in the race for favor can only be told after the season is fairly started and women have decided as to which they really prefer.

For wear with suits it seems probable that the tailored blouse will continue in popular favor. It has certainly served its time well this spring and summer season, with the sleeveless coats and sweaters and dresses. Those with the little tuftings and plaitings in extremely narrow strips are the ones which buyers and wearers seem to like the best.

The strict Oxford has been passed in popularity by the heavy suede strapped pump with a low heel, at least for country sport wear. It is likely that this style will carry over for street wear in the city in the fall.

No matter how young the daughter is—if she be a mere baby—she must have a cape these days, and the baby capes are, perhaps, the most lovely of all. And capes promise to keep on being strictly up-to-date for at least another season. No one can say how long they will survive after that but at least we can revel in them for some time to come. Only those who have worn the cape know how satisfactory it can be.

The foolish man who built his house on the sand

He gave an example in folly which anybody can understand.

It isn't so easy, however, to sense the mistake of trying to build the body on foods which lack essential nourishment.

Here, again, is a foundation of sand which gives way when the test comes.

Many a food that tastes good lacks honesty of nourishment to equal it's taste. Thus it tempts the appetite into mistakes that often are costly.

Grape-Nuts is a food which helps build bodily endurance for life's stress and storm. The full nourishment of wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral salts so necessary to bone structure and red blood corpuscles, with phosphates for the brain, is retained in Grape-Nuts. The long baking process by which Grape-Nuts is made gives the food a natural sweetness and an unusual ease of digestibility and assimilation.

Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is fully nourishing, and whether eaten as a cereal at breakfast or lunch, or made into a pudding for dinner, Grape-Nuts has a particular delight for the appetite. Sold by grocers.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepsin, pancreatin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive acids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, or milk, but the pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powder or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little Bisurated Magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and, moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion. All druggists.—Advertisement.

Retrenchment By Railroads Add to Number Out of Work

"The unemployment conference at Washington should find some interesting material for consideration in the quarterly report just issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission on statistics of railway employes' service and compensation for the three months ending June 30, 1921," says the Railway Age in its current issue. "This report shows that the average number of railway employes in service during the quarter was 1,568,143 less than during the corresponding quarter of 1920, and 123,328 less than during the first quarter of 1921. An even more striking reduction in railroad employment is shown by the comparison between August, 1920, when the railroads were carrying a recordbreaking traffic, and April, 1921. The reduction for this period was 655,208 or nearly 30 per cent.

"In August, 1920, the number of employes in service on the railroads of the United States was 2,197,824. In April this had been reduced to 1,542,716. For the first quarter of 1921 the average was 1,691,471 and for March it had fallen to 1,593,068. In April the situation was still worse but there was a slight increase in May to 1,575,592 and in June to 1,586,143. Later reports will undoubtedly show further increases for the ensuing months for which the reports are not yet available, as traffic has increased and the railroads have been able gradually to increase their maintenance forces, particularly since the slight reduction in wages allowed by the Railroad Labor Board on July 1, but every one knows that the improvement since last spring has been relatively very slight. An analysis of the report indicates that while the decrease in the amount of freight offered to the carriers has naturally led to a reduction in the number of train crews even heavier reductions were made in the track and car repair forces and heavy reductions were also made in the clerical forces.

"The total compensation paid to the employes of Class I roads for the second quarter of 1921 was $699,584,795 as compared with $757,385,356 for the first quarter of 1921 and $1,052,109,451 in the third quarter of 1920. Since in all these three quarters the employes were on the same basis of wages, the reduction in the payroll was entirely due to reduction in the number of employes.

"While the commission's statistics indicate the extent of the unemployment in the railway industry which has resulted from the general business depression of the past year and the necessity for the railroads to curtail their expenditures in every way possible, it does not show the very large amount of unemployment in industries which are dependents upon the prosperity of the railways. Directly and indirectly the drastic retrenchments the railways have had to make undoubtedly have caused the unemployment of more than a million men."

SURPLUS FREIGHT CARS DECREASED; 16% IN BAR ORDER

Surplus freight cars on the railroads of the United States totaled 433,536 on September 15, a decrease of 17,267 from those of the preceding week. Of the foregoing total 213,545 were cars in need of repairs and the remaining 219,991 were available for immediate service if demanded.

As compared with the preceding weekly report the tabulations showed a decrease of 17,981 in the number of good order cars and an increase of 714 in the number of unserviceable cars.

Of the 2,298,383 freight cars of American railroads, 374,431, or 16.3 per cent, were in bad order on September 15, in contrast to 374,087, or 16.2 per cent, at the beginning of the month. In normal times cars in disrepair average about seven per cent of the total.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"THE TRUTH ABOUT HUSBANDS" a First National picture, opened a three-day performance at this theatre today. Anna Lehr, May McAvoy and H. E. Herbert are seen in the leading roles. Dunstan Renshaw, a wealthy bachelor, meets Janet Preece under an assumed name. They fall in love and he promises to marry her, but later deserts her to wed Leslie Brownell, a young society girl, and goes abroad with her.

But it so happens that Leslie's brother, Wilfred Brownell, is acquainted with Janet Preece, but is not cognizant of the fact that Dunstan, his sister's husband, has ever met her. Janet is engaged as secretary to Mrs. Stonehay, whose daughter Irene is a friend of Leslie's. She is taken abroad with the Stonehays. Irene Stonehay becomes engaged to Lord Dexter Randolph, an old acquaintance of Dunstan's. While Dunstan and Lord Randolph are away from home they visit a notorious cafe in Rome, but Dunstan is deterred from participating in the midnight revels by thoughts of his bride, Leslie, to whom he remains loyal. In the meantime Leslie is entertaining her friend, Irene Stonehay, and the latter's mother, who is accompanied by her secretary, Janet Preece. Janet is taken ill in the home of the Renshaw's. In some manner Janet has learned that the initials of the name of the man who had promised to marry her were "D. R." By an unlucky coincidence Lord Randolph's initials happen to be "D. R." also. Whereupon Janet jumps to the conclusion that Lord Randolph is the man. Upon being confronted by Dunstan and Lord Randolph she sees her mistake and promptly accuses Dunstan Renshaw. It is then Leslie learns the truth about her husband, whom she has always regarded as beyond reproach. She leaves him, but they are finally reconciled at the death bed of Janet.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"LURING LIPS."—Starring Edith Roberts, is being shown today. Miss Roberts, surrounded by an excellent supporting cast gives one of the best performances of her career in this exciting story of love, adventure and intrigue. King Baggot, who directed the production, has staged the drama in his most capable manner. The suspense throughout the story is sustained to a high degree of absorbing interest. This is one story where the lady next to you can't predict what will happen in the last reel. Adele Martin's short married life was wonderfully happy until the law took her husband. A fortune was missing from the bank where he was employed. Unjustly he was sent to prison. Adele lured a certain man into her life at the risk of losing her husband's love. As the affair progressed it was evident someone would pay. Dave Martin, in prison, had learned the truth. When he gained his freedom the three met accidentally. Adele played her trump card. Tomorrow and Saturday "The Face of the World," will be presented.

THE ORPHEUM.

"PARTNERS OF FATE," a William Fox production with Louise Lovely in the leading role, is being shown today as the feature picture. As the loyal wife of a man with whom she had nothing in common, and through the trying experiences of an enforced sojourn on a lonely island in the South Seas with the man she idolized and who she knew loved her, Meg Lovely rose to dramatic heights that made her characterization a constant delight. The story deals with the troubles that beset an oddly paired quartet of friends, each of whom is married to a life partner with whom happiness is impossible. Then, as the result of a shipwreck, the young people, cast upon two uninhabited islands, find themselves paired as they should have been earlier—and with each couple in ignorance of the other's fate. How all the strength and weakness of their respective natures are brought to the surface in these circumstances forms a most absorbing narrative—unique in treatment and puzzling as to what the outcome will be.

Tomorrow and Saturday Pearl White will be seen in "The Mountain Woman."

Do This Tonight

Watch the quick effects—see the change in a week

Present this coupon to your dealer. He will give you a delightful ten-day test of a new teeth-cleaning method which millions are employing.

Watch the effects, quick, pleasant and conspicuous. Watch the new luster that comes. In ten days let your mirror tell you the way to pretty teeth.

Leading dentists everywhere advise this method now. You will see and feel the reasons when you make this test.

End the dingy film

The chief purpose is to fight film. This viscous coat, which you can feel, causes dingy teeth and also most tooth troubles.

Film clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The old ways of brushing did not end it. So film-coats night and day threaten serious damage.

Film is what discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All these troubles have been constantly increasing. Despite the daily brushing with old methods, very few escaped them.

Now you can fight it

Dental science, after long research, has found ways to fight that film. Able authorities have proved them effective. Now leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in Pepsodent, the new-day, scientific tooth paste. Millions of people now use it, and the use is fast spreading the world over.

That is the dentifrice we urge you to try. Your druggist has a free tube for you. Enjoy its effects for ten days, then judge them for yourself.

Also starch and acids

Modern diet makes other things essential. And those essentials are embodied in this scientific tooth paste.

Each use of Pepsodent multiplies the salivary flow. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's agent for neutralizing acids which attack the teeth.

All This Week

This 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent. Simply present the coupon. This test will prove a delightful revelation. It will show you the way which millions have found to whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. This offer is for one week only. It means much to you and yours. Act now.

An ideal diet would do these same things, but few people get it. So dental science now needs the tooth paste to bring these desired effects.

Pepsodent will daily bring you five great benefits which the old ways did not bring. Together they mean a new era in teeth cleaning.

Men's tobacco stains

Men who smoke stain these film-coats with tobacco. The use of Pepsodent brings them conspicuous effects.

Food stains with women make these film-coats dingy. The glistening teeth seen everywhere now show how Pepsodent removes them.

But children need Pepsodent most. Their teeth are most subject to film and starch attacks. Very few escape them. Dentists advise that they use Pepsodent from the time the first tooth appears.

Watch teeth whiten

The results of Pepsodent are quickly seen and felt. No user can long doubt them. A book we send explains the reasons for them. A very short test will convince you that this new way is essential.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch the other good effects.

Then you will see and feel and know that Pepsodent is necessary. You will realize that old methods were not right. And this discovery may bring life-long benefits both to you and yours. Present this coupon to the dealer named this week. Cut it out now.

Unearth Palace of Wonders In Virginia's Endless Caverns

This stone image of a giant California Redwood stump, the upper surface as regular as if it had been frosh-sawn, the corrugations of the bark perfectly reproduced and the size and proportions as correct as if carefully designed by a competent sculptor, is only one of the multitude of wonders to be encountered in the Endless Caverns near New Market, Virginia, recently opened to the public.

The caverns are of natural limestone formation. The tree stump is not a petrifaction but the remains of a broken stalagmite. Recently a cleverly concealed system of electric lighting has been installed in the caverns revealing their bizarre beauties of color and form.

"Imagine the collaboration of a Troglodyte architect, a demoniacal futurist, and a William scene painter, assisted by a [illegible] of workers, and apprentices, consisting of elves, gnomes, pygmies and not a few water demons," says A. Holt Armitage in his effort to describe the caverns. "Such a group might have produced these caves, the effect is astonishing. The Troglodyte architect seems to have introduced every kind of motif in the rock formations and the elaborate colonnades of stalactites and stalagmites. The demoniacal futurist has used every shade of color. As for the drunken scene painter, he has left hectic splashes of color from his intoxicated brush in all manner of curious places."

The Endless Caverns lie only about four miles from New Market, just off the Valley Pike, which is a part of the National Highway. They are easily accessible to automobilists, an excellent road having just been completed leading directly to the entrance.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a fifty bottle containing directions.—Adv.

THURSDAY EVE'G, OCT. 6, 1921.

OBJECTIVE OF THE "CLEAN-UP" SQUAD.

The very systematic and thorough efforts the government is making in conjunction with the Red Cross, to dispose of pending and to expedite the handling of new claims of ex-service men for compensation vocational training hospital care and other aid is being brought to the attention of the people of Fayette county by the visit to Uniontown of the Clean-Up Squad' of the Philadelphia branch of the Veterans Bureau

Organized and authorized to advance claims on their way to a final disposition the chief objective of the squad is to find out the causes of delay and to adjust claims that have already been filed but held up somewhere for some reason Temporary ratings and adjustments subject to final approval can be made in the field and hospitalization and treatment authorized by the squad New claims will be received which must be accompanied by all documents and other information necessary to a proper consideration of them

It being well known that there has been a sad lack of system and thoroughness in the former administration of all matters pertaining to aid for the veterans the object to be achieved by the squad campaign is to provide relief for the claimants as promptly as possible The visit of the squad extending only until tomorrow evening it is important that ex-service men who have filed or desire to file claims should report to the squad without delay

It is the desire of the Veterans Bureau that every man entitled to any form of aid authorized by the acts of Congress to be given shall have the full benefit of the provisions of these acts If the veterans do not themselves or through the Red Cross or other agency take the steps necessary to establish their claims the bureau will not be in a position to consider them The opportunity offered by the visit of the squad should therefore be seized upon by those who have the right to file claims Disposing of them is a big undertaking but more energy and intelligence are now being applied to the work than at any time since relief measures became effective A very marked improvement in handling claims is certain to result Claimants can assist in expediting the work by reporting to the squad and placing that body in possession of all the information required for disposing of their claims

A JOB FOR THE LEGION.

After handling the Hallowe'en celebration and parade so successfully for a number of years, in fact ever since it became an annual event in Connellsville, the volunteer firemen quite naturally feel they have done their full part as leaders in this popular form of entertainment for both the kiddies and the grown-ups

The public generally will regret the withdrawal of the firemen from this activity and the young folks will be very sorely disappointed should failure to secure other managers of the affair result in abandonment of the custom It is therefore hoped some other organization will appreciate the opportunity that is offered to continue this interesting evening's sport

Under the circumstances the timely suggestion has been made that the members of Milton L Bishop Post of The American Legion might take upon themselves the task the firemen feel should now fall to others This organization is peculiarly well equipped to stage a Hallowe'en parade having many attractive and unusual features The military experience of the members qualifies them for leadership in such an undertaking and they are still young enough to enter into the undertaking with all the zest and ardor necessary to the occasion

The reports one hears about the fun making put on by the 'Forty and Four' auxiliary of the Legion makes it safe to predict that the legionnaires could organize a Hallowe'en parade equal in all respects to a "Journey Through France in a Box Car" as a diversion suited to the season

It is hoped therefore, that if other arrangements have not already been made that the members of the Legion take the matter under advisement assured as they may be, that they will receive the hearty cooperation and support of the citizens in providing an evening of fun for both old and young In addition to the entertainment thus provided for both paraders and spectators the leadership and participation of the members of the legion would serve excellently to establish a new point of contact between this organization and the public, which is more or less a need of both

RESPONSIBILITY UPON HEADS OF HOUSEHOLDS.

Of the many proposed methods for bringing to the attention of householders the necessity of more complete prevention of fires, as a means of saving property and lives, instruction in the schools is being stressed as one of the most important

By this means children are taught the essentials of safety from fire at a period when they are not likely to forget it They represent practically all the homes of a community and will be instrumental in giving widespread distribution of the facts relating to the prevention of fires

In his message setting aside October 10 as Fire Prevention Day Governor Sproul realizes the value of the school children as aids in spreading the principles and rules of safety from fire

"I trust" the Governor says, 'that the proper public departments, in cooperation with chambers of commerce and other organizations may plan such instructive and educational exercises as shall impress the public mind with the purposes of this day's observance I urge the promotion in our schools of systematic instruction in fire prevention constant observance of the ordinary precautions that safeguard us from fire and orderliness in home and community '

But the elders must not forget that they the knowledge the children may gain as to the methods of fire prevention will avail little if it is not applied in every home The final responsibility rests upon the head of the household

Liberty Bonds At Par

Philadelphia Ledger

During the last few days no fewer than six of the various issues of Liberty Bonds have risen in market quotations to new high records for the year This phenomenon has been so decided and so consistent through most of the classes of this security as to attract widespread attention The financial analysts, trying to get at the causes which underlie this trend, come to the conclusion it is due to factors which are likely to prove permanent and that as a result these government securities in some issues may well touch par before the end of the year 1922 Should they do so, it would be a blessing to many a small investor who when he put his wartime savings into Liberty Bonds was told he could 'get it back any time he wanted it' but has found that he could get only a part of it back, which has not pleased him at all

There has been a great deal of discussion as to possible artificial means to be taken to bring Liberty Bonds back to or near par, for during the period of most serious depression the matter had become almost a national scandal It is satisfactory to find therefore that natural conditions have worked out the salvation of the Liberty Bonds especially when the conditions bringing this about are so encouraging as a barometric reading of optimistic import on the state of business and industry over the country

BUCK UP.

Buck up when you're discouraged
  Buck up when things go wrong
Buck up and face the battle
  Care doesn't last for long
What though disaster taunts you
  And hope seems lost in doubt
Buck up and face your problem
  You still can work it out

Buck up and fight still harder
  Tomorrow waits for you
Until the game is ended
  There's something you can do
And even after failure
  If but your faith be stout
And you remain undaunted
  You still can work it out

Buck up when you are tiring
  Your foes are tiring too
Buck up the fight's not hopeless
  Until they've conquered you
Buck up though bruised and battered
  Still battle tooth and nail
Though flesh and muscle falter
  Don't let your spirit fail

Build up the will within you
  Unconquered must remain
For man must face his duty
  In spite of grief or pain
There still is time to conquer
  However dark the view
Unless you let misfortune
  Destroy your spirit too

THE THINKER.

There's a fortune in store for the man who can Think
  And glory to crown his endeavor
He can come to renown who will often sit down
  Away from the wise men and clever
And with reason to guide him will map out a plan
  That is best for his country and best for the man

The thoughtless are many they swarm in the throng
  But the Thinkers are solemnly few
But the man at the top is the man who will stop
  To ponder the course he'll pursue
And he never attacks any problem of doubt
  Before he has carefully thought it all out

Our country will honor the man who can think
  For the need of his wisdom is great
The man unafraid and not easily swayed
  Is the man who shall fashion our fate
For plausible folly the mob often moves
  But the Thinker considers before he approves

These are days for the thinker there's much to be done
  And many the dangers to face
And what seems to be good when it's all understood
  May be ruin and shame and disgrace
Whenever arises a problem of doubt
  For the good of our country let's reason it out

Larger Gain Last Week in Active Ovens and Output Than Three Earlier Weeks

Close to Records of March 26, the Second Week of the Great Slump.

755 MORE OVENS FIRED

And Seven Plants Brought to Full Operation; Production Increased by 8,540 Tons; Forward Movement Develops Strength; More Activity Soon

From The Weekly Courier.

The gain in the number of plants and ovens in blast and the production of coke was considerably greater last week than during the whole of the three weeks immediately preceding. Five previously idle plants with 444 ovens and 311 ovens at plants already in operation, or a total of 755 ovens, were placed in the running, swelling the active list to 4,313 ovens and production by 8,540 tons to a total of 52,300 tons. The nearest records are during the week ended March 26, the second week after the slump began to be acute, when 5,176 ovens were in operation and production was estimated at 54,020 tons. Another feature of last week was the bringing of seven oven plants to full operation which had previously been running only in part or were altogether idle. This is worthy of note when it is remembered that during the whole period of the depression there were but five plants which ran all of their ovens without break and that not until last week was this number more than doubled.

While it has been confidently forecast that production would assume larger proportions from week to week, through the firing up of plants and ovens, none of the trade prophets were quite bold enough to venture the prediction that so great an increase would take place within six days as the record for last week shows. However, it correctly reflects a growing demand and larger consumption of coke, it being a fact of the present situation that the coke is going into the market as fast as made and that there are no accumulations of stocks o loaded cars held on plant sidings until destinations can be secured. In other words, it simply means that industrial and business conditions by which the coke trade is affected have undergone, and are continuing to undergo, changes necessary, incident and precedent to expansion and that the coke trade is keeping step.

That there is to be further progress in this direction there is apparently no reasonable doubt. Coke buyers are still coming into the market and others are conducting negotiations with respect to future deliveries. More plants and ovens are being made ready to resume coke making and in all parts of the region there is an air of cheerful expectancy as to the prospects, both immediate and remote.

The stability and strength of the forward movement in coke is rather strikingly illustrated by existing conditions. Notwithstanding the steady increase in production, which in the earlier history of the region might have had the opposite effect, prices continue to firm up and also to display advancing tendencies. There is no over production due to two reasons. Consumers had no stocks on hand and are buying on the basis of consumptive needs. Again, the coke producers are profiting by the more or less bitter experience of other periods and are keeping output well within the volume of market demand.

On the whole the coke trade considers that there are sound reasons for the feeling of encouragement which prevails, and which is doubly welcome because of the long lean season which has been endured with such fortitude that patience has become a virtue.

The estimated production of coke during the week ended Saturday, October 1, was 52,300 tons, credited to the two districts in the following proportions: Connellsville, 11,910, an increase of 3,090 tons; Lower Connellsville, 40,390, an increase of 5,450 tons, or a total increase of 8,540 tons, as compared with 2,390 tons during the preceding week.

By interests the production was divided as follows: Furnace, 14,900 tons, same as previous week; merchant, 37,900, a gain of 8,540 tons as compared with the week ending September 24.

The active oven list was augmented by 755, all except two at the merchant plants. The additions included five plants out of blast for a considerable period as follows: Elm Grove, 100; Mount Braddock, 150; American No. 2, 50; Junior, 21; Thompson No. 2, 60; Tower Hill No. 2, 60. Other increases were: Oliver No. 1, five; Donald 1 and 2, 224; Puritan 1 and 2, 21; Tower Hill No. 1, 48; Washington No. 2, 20; Geneva, two. The Mt. Pleasant plant of the Mt. Pleasant Coke company, 310 ovens, is being fired in full this week together with additions to plants already running. Coal loading operations of the H. C. Frick Coke company were enlarged by resumption of Mammoth and Hecla No. 2 mines.

PRICE OBJECTIVE FOR BARS, SHAPES AND PLATES HIGHER

Demand for Sheets Stronger Than Supposed; Buyers Taking Production as Fast as Ready.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

Moved by the success of wire and sheet mills recently in their drive for tonnage to pave way for the price advances that have since become a fact in these lines, the producers of bars, shapes and plates have been campaigning for business, evidently having for their object the raising of prices to a less unprofitable level. Shading of 1.60c on the products has been exceptional of late, and only under special inducement, while the objective seems to be prices of 1.65c on bars and 1.75c on plates and shapes. Already some mills are naming these as their "regular" prices.

The actual demand for sheets is found to be inherently stronger than was supposed. Over 200,000 tons was put on books of sheet makers in the recent movement, and while it was thought that much of the tonnage was taken simply to avoid a price advance it is now found that the majority of the buyers really want the sheets as fast as they can be delivered. While it is not proved that the recent price advance will hold indefinitely, some mills are already discussing the prospects of an additional advance, and it is a fact that every day some business is being placed at the advanced prices.

Sheet mills are operating at about 75 per cent wire and tin plate mills at 60 or 65 per cent and pipe mills at not far from 50 per cent. In the heavy lines, bars, shapes, plates and rails, there is such light production that the output of ingots is at only about 35 per cent of capacity. The rate bids fair to average between 40 and 50 per cent between now and the end of the year. Practically all predictions are that there will be further and marked improvement in tonnage by early spring.

Coal Movement to Lakes Improves, But Exports Fall Off

The movement of soft coal up the Lakes showed a decided improvement during the week ended September 25, A total of 610,837 net tons was dumped over the piers at Lake Erie ports. When compared with the dumpings in the preceding week, this was an increase of 134,447 tons. Of the total dumped, 565,390 tons were cargo coal and 25,447 tons were vessel fuel. Shipments in the corresponding week in 1920 totaled 905,769 tons.

The cumulative Lake movement now stands at 18,280,507 net tons. In comparison with the corresponding periods in recent years, the present season is nearly three and a half million tons ahead of 1920, 173,806 tons ahead of 1919, but over three million tons behind 1918.

The all-rail movement to New England continued to recover in the week ended September 24. Reports show that 2,412 cars of anthracite and 2,602 cars of soft coal were forwarded over the Hudson. When compared with the week before, increases of 225 and 364 cars, respectively, are shown.

Exports of soft coal from Hampton Roads continued to decline in the week ended September 24. As reported the total quantity dumped was 55,035 net tons, of which 27,860 tons were cargo coal and 27,175 tons were for foreign bunkers. The great decline in foreign demand is seen in the fact that from this port, which ordinarily handles 75 per cent of the oversea exports, shipments were less than one-tenth of the weekly average in June.

ORGANIC SULPHUR

Cannot Be Removed from Coal by Washing, Says Bureau of Mines.

An examination by the Bureau of Mines of samples collected in the Pratt coal seam in Alabama shows that the variation of sulphur content is due almost entirely to variations in the amounts of pyritic sulphur; the organic sulphur content remaining constant.

The determination of sulphur in raw coal and washed coal collected at the washery at Woodward, Ala., confirms previous conclusions that organic sulphur can not be removed by washing and is often higher in the washed coal.

GREENSBURG MACHINIST DROPS A THOUSAND DOLLARS EASY

Spent His Money Uselessly Trying Different Remedies to Rid Himself of Digestive Troubles, But Had No Success Until He Tried Nerv-Worth, and This Soon Ended Indigestion.

"I have spent at least a thousand dollars in an endeavor to rid myself of indigestion and stomach trouble, which I have had for 20 years, but got no results. My stomach and digestion, together with extreme nervousness, caused me to lose much valuable time. For the last 11 years I have been a machinist foreman of the Kelly-Jones Co., of Greensburg, and my time was worth money. I was compelled to lay off 10 weeks not long ago. Doctors said they could give me only temporary relief. Finally I saw Nerv-Worth advertised, and determined to try it, and I am glad to say that now after using only part of a bottle, I am no longer troubled with indigestion or nervousness, and I have gained in weight instead of losing weight, as formerly. I can eat anything I want when I want it, and it thoroughly agrees with me. I most cheerfully recommend Nerv-Worth to all, for it has done more than the makers claimed for it." Thus wrote D. F. Smith, who resides at 122 N. Maple Ave., Greensburg, Pa. You will find that if you suffer as Mr. Smith suffered, Nerv-Worth will quickly give you health. It will aid and benefit your whole digestive system, relieve your nervous condition, and tone and invigorate you throughout. If it doesn't benefit you after you have taken your first bottle, your money will be refunded. Sold on a money-back guarantee by Connellsville Drug Co., and all leading druggists everywhere.—advertisement.

NEW YORK YANKEES TRIM THE GIANTS IN OPENER; CARL MAYS SUPREME

American League Twirler Has Finest Control of Ball.

"BABE" RUTH FANS TWICE

Carl Mays, pitching ace of major league baseball, and a member of the Yankee staff, won his game from the New York Giants in the opening of the world series at the Polo Grounds yesterday. Ruth batted in the first run with a single, McNally stole home for the second tally and the third was earned by well timed hits.

"Shufflin" Phil Douglass was on the mound for the vanquished. He pitched fine ball and although the Yanks got only seven hits they came when needed. Twice the National leaguers had men to third but lacked the punch to score.

"Babe" Ruth got a walk after his first time at bat and then struck out in his next two appearances. Fritsch got four of the Giants' five hits, one being a triple.

The game by innings:

First Inning.

Yankees—Miller got a single into center. Peckinpaugh sacrificed, Douglass to Kelley. Miller scored on Ruth's hot single to center. Ruth hit the first ball pitched. Meusel hit into a double play, Fritsch to Rawlings to Kelley. One run, two hits, no errors.

Giants—Peckinpaugh threw out Burns at first and made a nice play on it. Ward took Bancroft's roller and threw him out at first. Frisch singled past Peckinpaugh. Mays threw out Young at first, no runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Inning.

Yankees—Rawlings threw out Pipp at first. Ward walked on four straight balls. Frisch threw out McNally at first, Ward going to second. Schang struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Giants—Kelly filed out to Ruth. Meusel filed out to his brother in right field. Rawlings was hit by a pitched ball. Schang threw out Snyder at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning.

Yankees—Rawlings took Mays' slow hopper and threw him out. Bancroft threw out Miller at first. Peckinpaugh struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Giants—Douglass lined out to Ruth, who let the ball fly up in the air before he caught it ofr the out. Peckinpaugh threw out Burns at first. Ward threw out Bancroft. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning.

Yankees—The outfielders backed up against the fence for Ruth who walked. Meusel filed out to Frisch. Pipp sacrificed, Frisch to Kelly, Ruth going to second. Bancroft threw out Ward at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Giants—Frisch singled to right, his second hit. Frisch stole second. It was a close decision and the Yankees kicked. Young sacrificed, Mays to Pipp, Frisch going to third. Kelly up. The Yankee infield played back. Foul strike one, ball one. The Yankees came in on the grass. Foul strike two, Kelly struck out. Peckinpaugh threw out Meusel at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fifth Inning.

Yankees—McNally got a long hit to left for two bases. Snyder tried to catch McNally off second. Schang sacrificed, Douglass to Kelly, McNally going to third. Mays struck out. McNally stole home. Snyder touched him with the ball after he had crossed the plate. Frisch robbed Miller of a hit, and threw him out. One run, one hit, no errors.

Giants—Peckinpaugh tossed out Rawlings at first. Peckinpaugh also threw out Snyder. Douglass grounded out to Pipp, unassisted. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning.

Yankees—Bancroft took Peckinpaugh's roller but his throw was too late to get him at first and it went for a hit. Peckinpaugh went to second on a passed ball. Ruth struck out. Peckinpaugh scored on Meusel's long hit to left for three bases. The Giants threw the ball to first to Kelly, who touched first base and Meusel was declared out, the claim being that he did not touch first. Pipp walked. The play on Meusel's drive was Meusel to Kelly to Rawlings to Douglass to Kelly. Douglass tried to get Pipp at first. Strike two. Pipp went out stealing, Snyder to Rawlings. One run, one hit, no errors.

Giants—Mays took Burns' hopper and threw him out at first. Bancroft went out on a grounder to Pipp, unassisted. Pipp slid into the bag to make the put-out. Frisch got a three-base hit to left, his third hit of the game. Peckinpaugh threw out Young at first, making a neat play on a long throw. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Inning.

Yankees—Ward fanned, a victim of Douglass' spit ball. Rawlings threw out McNally on four balls. Mays singled. Schang was hit by a batted ball and was declared out. No runs, one hit, no errors. Mays got credit for a hit.

Giants—Kelly fouled to Ward who took the ball back of first. Ward threw out Meusel. Rawlings got a short hit to right. Snyder forced Rawlings at second, Peckinpaugh to Ward. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Eighth Inning.

Yankees—Miller popped out to Bancroft. Rawlings tossed out Peckinpaugh at first. Ruth struck out for the second time and Douglass was given a big hand. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Giants—Smith batting for Douglass. Smith flied out to Ruth. Peckinpaugh threw out Burns at first. Bancroft sent a high fly to Ruth. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning.

Yankees—Barnes now pitching for New York Nationals. Meusel popped to Rawlings. Kelly took Pipp's grounder and touched first. Ward pushed a single into right. On the hit and run play, McNally singled into left, Ward going to third. McNally stole second. Schang fanned. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Giants—Frisch singled into right, his fourth hit of the game. Young forced Frisch at second. Ward to Peckinpaugh. Kelly hit into a double play, Peckinpaugh to Ward to Pipp. No runs, one hit, no errors.

NOTHING MORE UNCERTAIN THAN PINCH-HITTER IN BIG CONTESTS

Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Putting pinch-hitters into world series games is a big gamble, says Wilbert Robinson. It's easy to make a big mistake. He says:

"The manager can pull homes in a series as well as his players, but he is quite often blamed for things that aren't his fault. This is particularly true of the pinch-hitter. Nothing is more uncertain than a pinch-hitter, and yet, if a manager in a world series sends in a pinch-hitter who delivers the goods, he is called an able strategist. If the pinch-hitter strikes out or pops up, the manager has pulled a bone. It's the same old story of the second guess. What succeeds is right. What fails is a blunder. During the season a manager can sometimes juggle his pitching staff, conceding a few defeats here and there in order to win the greatest number of games over the stretch, but in a short series every game is so important that you must fight until the last man is out. Good breaks on sending in pinch-hitters mean a lot in world series games."

TWO TEAMS PROFITED BY MARANVILLE DEAL

Pirates and Braves Strengthened By Transaction.

Pittsburgh Drew Right Player to Inspire Club and Make It a Pennant Factor—Rabbit Inspired With New Interest.

Occasionally two major league clubs make a trade which is of marked benefit to both and that seems to apply to the deal between the Boston Braves and the Pittsburgh Pirates last winter which sent Rabbit Maranville to Pittsburgh and brought Barbare, Southworth and Nicholson to the Hub. At the time the deal was made the critics declared that Pittsburgh gave up more playing material than it received and perhaps this was true. At the same time there is no disputing the fact that Pittsburgh could spare the players it gave up, as is shown by the standing of the clubs.

Rabbit Maranville.

and the Pirates certainly drew just the player needed to inspire the club and make it a real pennant factor.

Barbare is playing a wonderful game at short for the Braves, as good a game in fact that the spectacular Maranville has not been missed. Southworth in the outfield is a tower of strength and Nicholson has done fine work with somewhat limited opportunities, since he has not been playing regularly. For years the Braves went along with Maranville in the lineup, unable to make any real showing in spite of the fine playing of the Rabbit, who seemed to have outlived his usefulness in the Hub. With another club Maranville has taken new interest and is playing a wonderful game, at the same time keying up an infield which needed just such a spark plug to make it travel its fastest. Pittsburgh is satisfied, so is Boston and the fans around the National League circuit are all convinced that this deal proved highly beneficial to both clubs.

Big Year for Veterans.

Old heads are still carrying the athletic load. The year of 1921 has been a veterans' year.

When it comes right down to a question of picking our best in any sport the experienced players are the ones we rely on. The veterans have won all the trophies.

New and younger stars flash forth for a time. For the moment we think they are world-beaters. Then they fade into the background as the oldsters go to the head of the class when the real test comes.

LANGUAGE FOR TENNIS COURT

Linguist Necessary to Interpret Communications Between Members of Different Teams.

While tennis is played the same in all the dozen countries which originally started in the Davis cup trials, they don't talk about it in the same tongue.

With the foreign players on the ground it requires a linguist to interpret communications between different teams.

More arguments for an international language.

One touch of tennis also makes the whole world kin.

PROSPEROUS FOOTBALL YEAR

Calls Have Been Sent Out and Gridiron Expected to Have Attendance This Autumn.

Football calls already are being sent out. The gridiron will have its biggest year this fall.

Attendance records were smashed last year. They'll be bigger this season.

Great football teams are no longer confined to the East.

They have wonder teams on the Pacific coast now. Also they are found in remote villages such as Danville, Ky., the home of the famed Center eleven which plays Harvard October 29.

Baseball Superstition

The Pittsburgh Pirates had a group picture taken of the team.

Some one happened to mention, as the photographer moved away, that for a whole team to watch the little birdie at once was a jinx.

Whereupon the Pittsburghers went out and lost five straight games to the Giants. Right in the midst of a crucial pennant race.

It doesn't prove the jinx exists. But it does prove that to imbue a man, or a team of men, with the idea that they can't win a ball game generally means that they won't win. For their pep and enthusiasm have been stolen.

"Forty dollars a pound," he gasped. "Gib—Gib, my dear boy—you've made us wealthy—"

Quickly Mr. Gibney ran the can opener around the edges of one corner of the zinc box, inserted the claws of the hammer into the opening, and with a quick, melodramatic twist, bent back the angle thus formed.

Mr. Gibney was the first to get a peep inside.

"Great snakes!" he yelled, and fell back against the cabin wall. A hoarse scream of rage and horror broke from Captain Scraggs. In his eagerness he had driven his head so deep into the box that he came within an inch of kissing what the box contained—which happened to be nothing more nor less than a dead Chinaman! Mr. McGuffey, always slow and unimaginative, shouldered the skipper aside, and calmly surveyed the ghastly apparition.

"Twig the yellow beggar, will you, Gib?" said McGuffey; "one eye half open for all the world like he was winkin' at us an' enjoyin' th' joke."

Not a muscle twitched in McGuffey's Hibernian countenance. He scratched his head for a moment, as a sort of first aid to memory, then turned and handed Mr. Gibney ten dollars.

"You win, Gib. It's Oriental goods, sure enough."

"Robber!" shrieked Captain Scraggs, and flew at Mr. Gibney's throat. The sight reminded McGuffey of a terrier worrying a mastiff. Nevertheless, Mr. Gibney was still so unnerved at the discovery of the horrible contents of the box that, despite his gigantic proportions, he was well-nigh helpless.

"McGuffey, you swab," he yelled. "Pluck this maritime outlaw off my neck. He's tearin' my windpipe out by th' roots."

McGuffey choked Captain Scraggs until he reluctantly let go Mr. Gibney, whereupon all three fled from the cabin as from a pestilence, and gathered, an angry and disappointed group, out on deck.

"Opium!" jeered Captain Scraggs, with tears of rage in his voice. "Ginseng! You and your imagination, you swine, you! Get off my ship, you lout, or I'll murder you."

Mr. Gibney hung his head.

"Scraggsy—an' you, too, McGuffey—I got to admit that this here is one on Adelbert P. Gibney. I—I—"

"Oh, hear him," shrilled Captain Scraggs. "One on him! It's two on you, you bloody-handed ragpicker. I suppose that other case contains opium, too! If there ain't another dead corpse in No. 2 case I hope my teeth may drop overboard."

"Shut up!" bellowed Mr. Gibney, in a towering rage. "What howl have you got comin'? They're my Chinamen, ain't they? I paid for 'em like a man, didn't I? All right, then. I'll keep them two Chinamen. You two ain't out a cent yet, an' as for this five I wins off you, Scraggs, it's blood money; that's what it is, an' I hereby gives it back to you. Now, quit yer whinin', or by the tail o' the Great Sacred Bull, I'll lock you up all night in th' cabin along o' them two defunct Celestials."

Captain Scraggs "shut up" promptly, and contented himself with glowering at Mr. Gibney. The mate sat down on the hatch coaming, lit his pipe, and gave himself up to meditation for fully five minutes, at the end of which time McGuffey was aware that his imagination was about to come to the front once more.

"Well, gentlemen," (again McGuffey nodded approvingly) "I bet I get my twenty bucks back outur them two Chinks," he announced presently.

"How'll yer do it?" inquired McGuffey politely.

"How'll I do it? Easy as fallin' through an open hatch. I'm a-goin' t' keep them two stiffs in th' boxes until dark, an' then I'm a-goin' to take 'em out, bend a rope around their middle, drop 'em overboard an' anchor 'em there all night. I see th' lad we opens up in No. 1 case has had a beautiful job of embalmin' done on him, but if I let them sunk all night, like a mackerel, they'll limber up an' look kinder fresh. Then first thing in th' mornin' I'll telephone th' coroner an' tell him I found two floaters out in th' bay an' for him to come an' get 'em. I been along the waterfront long enough t' know that th' lad that picks up a floater gets a reward o' ten dollars from th' city. You can bet that Adelbert P. Gibney breaks even on th' deal, all right."

"Gib, my dear boy," said Captain Scraggs admiringly, "I apologize for my actions of a few minutes ago. I was unstrung. You're still mate o' th' American steamer Maggie, an' as such, welcome to th' ship. All I ask is that you nail up your property, Gib, an' remove it from th' dinin' room table. I want to remind you, however, Gib, that as shipmates me an' McGuffey don't stand for you shoulderin' any loss on them two cases o'—Oriental goods. We was t' share th' gains, if any, an' likewise th' losses."

"That's right," said McGuffey "fair an' square. No hellyachin' between shipmates. Me an' Scraggs each owns one-third o' them diseased Chinks, an' we each stands one-third o' th' loss, if any."

"But there won't be no loss," protested Mr. Gibney.

"Drayage charges, Gib, drayage charges. We give a man a dollar to tow 'em down t' th' ship."

"Forget it," answered Mr. Gibney magnanimously, "an' let's go over an' get a drink. I'm a bit shook up."

CHAPTER VIII.

Had either Mr. Gibney or McGuffey been watching Captain Scraggs after he had left them they would have been much puzzled to account for that worthy's actions. First he dodged around the block into Drumm street, and then ran down Drumm to California, where he climbed aboard a cable car and rode up into Chinatown. Arriving at Dupont street he alighted and walked up that interesting thoroughfare until he came to No. 714. He glanced at a sign over the door and was aware that he stood before the entrance to the offices of the Chinese Six Companies, so he climbed upstairs and inquired for Gin Seng, who presently made his appearance.

Gin Seng a very nice, fat Chinaman, arrayed in a flowing silk gown, begged, in pidgin English, to know in what manner he could be of service.

"Me heap big captain, allee same ship," began Captain Scraggs. "On board ship two China boys have got." (Here Captain Scraggs winked knowingly) "China boy no speak English—"

"That being the case," interposed Gin Seng, "I presume that you and I understand each other, so let's cut out the pidgin English. Do I understand that you are engaged in evading the immigration laws?"

"Exactly," Captain Scraggs managed to gasp, as soon as he could recover from his astonishment. "They showed me your name an' address, an' they won't leave th' ship where I got 'em locked up in my cabin, until you come an' take 'em away. Couple o' relatives of yours, I should imagine."

Gin Seng smiled his bland Chinese smile. He had frequent dealings with ship masters engaged in the dangerous, though lucrative, trade of smuggling Chinese into the United States, and while he had not received advice of this particular shipment, he decided to go with Captain Scraggs to Jackson street bulkhead and see if he could not be of some use to his countrymen.

As Captain Scraggs and his Chinese companion approached the wharf the skipper glanced warily about. He had small fear that either Gibney or McGuffey would show up for an hour, for he knew that Mr. Gibney had money in his possession. However, he decided to take no chances, and scanned the vicinity thoroughly before venturing aboard the Maggie. These actions served but to increase the respect of Gin Seng for the master of the Maggie and confirmed him in his belief that the Maggie was a smuggler.

Captain Scraggs took his visitor inside the little cabin, carefully locked and bolted the door, lifted the zinc flap back from the top of the crate of "Oriental goods" and displayed the face of the dead Chinaman. Also he pointed to the Chinese characters on the wooden lid of the crate.

"What does these hieroglyphics mean?" demanded Scraggs.

"This man is named Ah Chow and he belongs to the Hop Sing tong."

"How about his pal here?"

"That man is evidently Ng Chong Yip. He is also a Hop Sing man."

Captain Scraggs wrote it down. "All right," he said cheerily; "much obliged. Now, what I want to know is what the Hop Sing tong means by shipping the departed brethren by freight? They go to work an' fix 'em up nice so's they'll keep, packs 'em away in a zinc coffin, inside a nice plain wood box, labels 'em 'Oriental goods,' an' consigns 'em to the Gin Seng company, 714 Dupont street, San Francisco. Now, why are these two countrymen o' yours shipped by freight—where, by the way, they goes astray, for some reason that I don't know nothin' about, an' I buys 'em up at a old horse sale?"

Gin Seng shrugged his shoulders and replied that he didn't understand.

"You lie," snarled Captain Scraggs. "You savvy all right, you fat old idol, you! It's because if the railroad company knew these two boxes contained dead corpses they'd a-soaked the relatives, which is you, one full fare each from wherever these two dead ones comes from, just the same as though they was alive an' well. But you has 'em shipped by freight, an' aims to spend a dollar an' thirty cents each on 'em, by markin' 'em 'Oriental goods.' Helluva way to treat a relation. Now, looky here, you bloody heathen, it'll cost you just five hundred dollars to recover these two stiffs, an' close my mouth. If you don't come through I'll make a beech t' th' newspapers an' they'll keel hard an' shu'drag th' Chinese Six Companies an' the Hop Sing tong through the courts for evadin' th' laws o' th' interstate commerce commission, an' make 'em look like monkeys, generally. An' then th' police'll get wind of it. Savvy, policee-man, you fat old murderer? Th' price I'm askin' is cheap, Charley. How do I know but what these two poor boys has been murdered in cold blood? There's somethin' rotten in Denmark, my bully boy, an' you'll save time an' trouble an' money by diggin' up five hundred dollars."

Gin Seng said he would go back to Chinatown and consult with his company. For reasons of his own he was badly frightened.

Scarce had he departed before the watchful eye of Captain Scraggs observed Mr. Gibney and McGuffey in the offing, a block away. When they came aboard they found Captain Scraggs on top of the house, seated on an upturned fire bucket, smoking pensively and gazing across the bay with an assumption of lamblike innocence on his fox face.

He soon departed, but Mr. Gibney was suspicious. "He's got his lines fast somewhere—you can bank on that," was his comment. "While we was away he rigged up some kind of a deal, Bart. It stands to reason it was a mighty profitable deal, too. My imagination may be a bit off the course at times, Bart, but in general, if there's a dead whale floatin' around the ship I can smell it."

"What do you make out o' that fat Chinaman cruisin' down the bulkhead in an express wagon an' another Chinaman settin' up on the bridge with him?" McGuffey demanded. "Seems to me they're comin', hows on, for the Maggie."

"They tell me to deduct somethin', Bart. Wait a minute till we see if they're comin' aboard. If they are—"

"They're goin' to make a landin', Gib."

"—then I deduct that this body-snatchin' Scraggs—"

"They're boardin' us, Gib."

"—has arranged with yon fat Chinaman to relieve us o' the unwelcome presence of his defunct friends. He's gone an' hunted up the relatives an' made 'em come across—that's what he's done. The dirty, low, schemin' scoundrel! Of all the foxes in Christendom! I'll fish around an' see what digger Scraggs charged him," and Mr. Gibney stepped to the rail to meet Gin Seng, for it was indeed he.

"Sow-see, sow-see, hun-kay," Mr. Gibney saluted the Chinaman in a facetious attempt to talk the latter's language. "Hello, there, John Chinaman. How's your liver? Captain he allee same get tired; he no waltee. Whi's mallah, John. Too long time you no come. You heap lazy all time."

Gin Seng smiled his bland, inscrutable Chinese smile. "You ketchum two China boy in box?" he queried.

"We have" hoomed McGuffey, "an' beautiful specimens they be."

"No money, no China boy," Gibney added firmly.

"Money have got. Too muchee money you wanlee. No can do. Me pay two hundred dollah. Five hundred dollah heap muchee. No have got."

"Nothin' doin', John. Five hundred dollars an' not a penny less. Put up the dough or beat it."

Gin Seng expostulated, pled, evaded and all but wept, but Mr. Gibney was obdurate and eventually the Chinaman paid over the money and departed with the remains of his countrymen. "I knew he'd come through, Bart," Mr. Gibney declared. "They got to ship them stiffs to China to rest alongside their ancestors or be in Dutch with the spirits o' the departed for ever after."

"Do we have to split this swag with that dirty Scraggs?" McGuffey wanted to know. "Seein' as how he tried to give us the double cross—"

"We'll fix Scraggsy—all ship-shape an' legal so's he won't have no comeback."

They had not long to wait. Upon his arrival at Gin Seng's place of business Captain Scraggs had been informed that Gin Seng had gone out twenty minutes before, and further inquiry revealed that he had departed in an express wagon. Consumed with misgivings of his ster, Scraggs returned to the Maggie as fast as the cable car and his legs could carry him. In the cabin he found Mr. Gibney and McGuffey playing cribbage. They laid down their hands as Scraggs entered.

Mr. Gibney began at once: "To show you what a funny world this is, while me an' Bart's settin' on deck a-waitin' for you to come back, along breezes a fat old Chinaman in an express wagon an' offers to buy them two cases of Oriental goods. He makes me an' Mac what we considers a fair offer. Lemme see, now," he continued, and got out a stub of lead pencil with which he commenced figuring on the white oilcloth table cover. "We paid twenty dollars for them two derelicts an' a dollar towage. That's twenty-one dollars, an' a third o' twenty-one is seven, an' seven dollars from twenty-five leaves eighteen dollars comin' to you. Here's your eighteen dollars, Scraggsy, you lucky old vagabond—all clear profit on a next day's work, no expense, no investment, no back-breakin' interest charges or overhead, an' gold out at your own figger."

Captain Scraggs' face was a study in conflicting emotions as he raked in the eighteen dollars. "Thanks, Gib," he said frigidly.

Wool Goods at ½ price include Epingle, French Serge, plaids and poplins in browns, navy, tans, and green. Fabrics, these particularly well adapted for use in following the trim, plain tailored vogue this season. And at the price a probable solution of any suit difficulties that may confront us.

Where East Meets West

THAT totally unexpected merger comes to pass in the new Perfume Burners we've but lately unpacked.

These Burners are urnshaped affairs, tinted in bronze and gold—in which are united the langorous spirit of the Orient and the inventive genius of the West.

Having removed the lid, you find a little trough for perfume and a socket for a small electric bulb so that, in operation, the heat from the bulb liberates the souls of lost flowers imprisoned in the perfumes all the while the light itself glows with the subdued radiance of an Egyptian rite.

Happy the bed-room or parlor that boasts one of these! Priced $8.50, $10 and $11.50.
